ALL EAST ADMITS
MUSTAFA KEMAL
IS GREAT GENERALLeader of Turkish Army
Declared to Be More Powerful Than Sultan.REFUSES TO TALK PEACE
UNTIL TERMS ARE METDeclares Would Be Folly to Yield Now, Turning Country Over to Greeks.

[By Associated Press.]
ANGORA, Aug. 27.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, head of the Nationalist army and virtual dictator of Turkey in Asia, who is fighting the Greeks, speaks French and German fluently and looks one over with keen, gray eyes, the right one of which is maimed by a cast.

The Greek offensive was just beginning when the correspondent found him at his pretty villa on the hills a mile distant from Angora, yet he discussed it coolly as though it might affect some other country than his own.

NAME IS WELL KNOWN.

Mustapha Kemal's name is known throughout the East, where he is far more powerful than the Sultan cooped up in his palace at Constantinople under the guns of the allied warships in the Bosphorus. Every child in the East knows his name. Both soldier and politician, those familiar with the American struggle for liberty, frequently compare him to great leaders in American history.

In his moments of leisure, his Turkish comrade says he has a rare capacity for telling of pleasant stories and something of the sense of humor and innocent fun characteristic of the Turks, but these are not often displayed in the presence of strangers. His sterner qualities were shown in his resistance to and contempt for the Germans during the great war, and since the armistice, his organization of resistance to all peace terms and of the Greek army.

At the moment the correspondent said, he had just refused to meet the British General Harrington to talk peace terms, as he is convinced that such conferences cannot now have any practical result.

DO NOT REALIZE EARNESTNESS.

"They won't realize that we are in earnest, that we are speaking the plain truth, when we say we will make peace only on our published terms," he commented. "To yield now means turning over my country to the Greeks, to foreigners, to a fate far more bitter than that of the Hungarians. The only way is to fight on for independence."

"Will the Nationalist movement survive," he said slowly, repeating the question of the correspondent. "That is a question which interests not only ourselves, but is of vital importance to the peace of Europe and to the United States and other countries. I am fighting to establish a prosperous world to live in. Why don't the allies see this? Haven't they learned anything since the great war ended?"

"From an exterior point of view, we Nationalists are trying to prevent the Balkanizing of Turkey, prevent our house being divided against itself, prevent the allies from establishing zones of influence leading to future quarrels among themselves."

While out of politeness he didn't say so, it is known he feels the Americans should understand and help the British General Harrington, and help for news from the outside world, for the trend of opinion as to commercial stagnation.

He objected to the French point of view that the Turkish and Near East questions will be solved only when it is that of Russia.

Question Is Important.

"Ours is a question in itself," he said, "and a very important one. From the point of view of international law and order, I think it is admitted that the destruction of the Austrian Empire, has entailed insoluble problems. Have every State in the United States warring with its neighbors, and this will give you a conception of Europe today."

"Why destroy the fabric that holds the Near East together? No political arrangement is perfect, but this was the best to be found. It is my honest belief that a pre-war Turkey is still the only solution, with the Turks even made responsible, as before, for the neutrality of the Straits. We have given up to the British and the French Mesopotamia and Syria, and the peoples there must work out their national destinies as they see fit. But where the Turk population is in majority we should control and we expect to."

"Peace? Of course we want it. It is the allies and the Greeks who continue the war. It is ruining all of us, but our ruin would be immediate if we accepted their terms. When we have gotten rid of the Greeks, we will continue our sincere effort to keep going on the honest national government. For one thing, we will clean up Constantinople, morally. During the great war and since the ally occupation it has become a disgrace to civilization, a place that might well be burned to ashes as it stands."

Hungarians Crowd Old Hungary.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 27.—Hungarians expelled from parts of old Hungary, by the new states carved out of them, have been fleeing into the new, smaller Hungary in such numbers that the government has issued a decree forbidding further entries for three months. The refugees had crowded border villages and cities beyond their capacity and housing facilities have been exhausted.

DECLARE 'CHEKA'S' POWER
IS CURTAILED IN RUSSIAOrganization Declared to Have Performed Most Executions
During "Red Terror."

[By Associated Press.]
REVAL, ESTHONIA, Aug. 27.—The powers of the "Cheka," or Extraordinary Committee to Combat Counter-Revolution have recently been curtailed, say Moscow advices from independent sources. These are in some measure corroborated by Bolshevik newspapers. It was the "Cheka" with its powers of arresting without warrants, secret condemnations and death sentences, which ordered and carried out most of the executions during the period of "Red Terror" in Russia.

Some Oppose Abolition.

Some of the Soviet government officials, considering that the period of civil war and counter-revolution was almost completely ended, favored the abolition of the "Cheka" altogether. It is said, the controversy between those desiring to abolish it and those considering it still necessary is now understood to have been settled by a compromise.

M. Krylenko, a former sailor, the public prosecutor of the "revolutionary tribunal," led the fight for abolition, according to newspapers in the Baltic states. Dzerzhinski, president of the "Cheka," opposed him.

The government resolved on a reform of legal procedure, under which the "Cheka's" powers are principally confined to cases of espionage and participation in revolts, but without

CLAIMS TO CUT COST OF RUNNING AUTOS ONE-HALFItalian Engineer Gives Results After Experiments
Lasting Three Years.

[By Associated Press.]
ROME, Aug. 27.—Through the invention of a gas generating mixture composed by alcohol and a sulphur-carbon combination, the cost of operating automobiles and all internal combustion motors can be reduced one-half, according to the claims of Engineer Sestl, who after exhaustive experiments under the auspices of the Italian government has just completed a report on the possibilities of the new combustion.

The use of the new gas generating mixture pre-supposes the employment of a special kind of carburetor, which Engineer Sestl has evolved.

The experiments have been in progress over a period of almost three years, and were begun with a special view of lessening the cost of automobile fuel.

The new fuel has a density greater than that of gasoline in the ratio of 325 to 730. It is urged that the adoption of the fuel will considerably lessen the importations of foreign gasoline. Practically all the raw materials necessary for the new fuel can be found in Italy.

The inventor claims that the exhaust gas is less obnoxious to the lungs than the fumes of gasoline. The use of crude alcohol in the proportion of 70 per cent is employed in the fuel, while the remaining 30 per cent is taken up by the sulphur carbon combination.

COPENHAGEN SHOPS GLUTTED

Foreign Goods Dumped in Denmark in Hope of Invading Russian Centers—Fail to Win Trade With the Soviets.

[By Associated Press.]
COPENHAGEN, Aug. 27.—There is comparatively little commerce in the Baltic, owing to the disparity in exchange rates. Danish dairy products, hams, bacon and other foodstuffs which formerly went to Germany can no longer find a market there because of the unfavorable exchange. Germany going from Warneunde to Copenhagen find that their crisp 1,000-mark notes shrink to 75 crowns, and prices are so high in crowns that it is impossible for German merchants to buy Danish butter and cheese for the German market. Czecho-Slovakia Begins Recovery of Art and Rare Historical Objects

[By Associated Press.]

VIENNA, Aug. 27.—Czecho-Slovakia is the latest of the States to begin the recovery of art and historical objects awarded under the treaty of St. Germain and now in the palaces and museums of Vienna. A commission has just been appointed for that purpose.

These comprise, among other things, the almost priceless documents, historical memoirs, maps and other material which Thun-Hauslow von Rosenthal removed from Prague by order of the Empress Maria Theresa. Then there are the valuable documents originally contained in the Royal Aulic Chancery of Bohemia and the Aulic Chamber of Accounts of Bohemia, as well as the works of art formerly in the royal chateau of Prague and other castles of the Hapsburgs located in what is now Czecho-Slovakia, and which were removed to Vienna during the reigns of the Emperors Matthias, Ferdinand II, Charles VI. (about 1718-37) and Francis Joseph I.

consequently, the Danes must depend for a market on countries which also have high exchange. Recently they have tried butter and cheese shipments to the United States.

Danish Market Glutted.

The Danish market is glutted with foreign manufactured goods which have been assembled in the hope of invading the Russian market. Shop windows are filled with American goods. California tinned fruits and American shoes of all sorts are especially prominently displayed. Banners are abundant in the market, and dealers are hawking them everywhere about the streets, in striking contrast to the German cities, where banners are seldom seen.

Shops of all sorts in Copenhagen have larger and more varied stocks than can be found in the large German cities, where the government import regulations have kept out luxuries which could not be smuggled in through the occupied area.

Baltic Alive With Mines.

Danish business men are making desperate efforts to establish satisfactory business relations with the government of Soviet Russia in the hope of relieving the depression which has followed the drop in prices, but so far the Russian business has not been satisfactory.

The Great Northern Telegraph Company, which owns the direct cables which formerly operated between Petrograd and Copenhagen, is negotiating with the Soviet government for a resumption of direct telegraphic communication between Petrograd and Danish cities and has effected a preliminary agreement which will probably be signed before winter.

As the Baltic is still alive with mines, especially in the Gulf of Finland, and the cables have been much damaged by years of disuse, it is not likely that they can be repaired before Petrograd is frozen up this winter.

Efforts have been made to locate all these mines, but shipping is still very hazardous on the routes leading to Petrograd, and the vessels which recently entered that port were protected by small craft which proceeded ahead of them cautiously and removed all obstacles.
